Dear Bro. Zeh,

I have read about the sexual allegations against you on the internet at iukagac.com. It concerns me that no response of any kind has been offered by you. Your lack of a response makes you look guilty. As a brother in Christ, please let me offer you a suggestion.

If you are not guilty of the allegations as stated on the website, immediately notify the website that the information is false and identify each item that is false. Ask the website to publish a retraction and an apology. It will be legally required to do so.

If you are guilty of the allegations of having sex with various women, sex with teenagers, and using church funds to cover up your actions, you should immediately repent to God for your sins. You should extend a public apology to the women and families that you have hurt. You should extend an apology to your church that trusted in you. You should make a full confession for the misuse of church funds. This will be the beginning of the healing process. There will be no healing for you or your victims until this is done.

If you are guilty and are unwilling to repent and atone for your sins, you are unworthy and unfit to be associated with the cause of Christ. Don't make a mockery of God.

God is not mocked; whatsoever a man soeth, that shall he also reap. He that covereth his sin shall not prosper. These scriptures apply to everyone, even you.

Your friend in Christ
